

What is ELAN?

ELAN, a middleware built on Innoviti's uniPAYNext platform, provides real-time availability information for lounge access, converts reward points into access privileges, and streamlines entry through a mobile app and QR code scanning, enhancing customer experiences and brand engagement.

How does it work?

Just open the ELAN mobile app on your Android or iOS device, check your available lounge access balance, click on 'redeem' to generate a QR code, scan the same at the reception and enter the lounge!

How to integrate ELAN?

If you are a brand that provides contemporary experiences to customers and intend to integrate ELAN, drop us an email at info@innoviti.com

Case Study

Customer Persona

A frequent traveler, holding credit/debit cards with leading banks, seeks exclusive lounge access without the need to wait in queues for entry.

Pain Point

He finds it frustrating to wait in queues for lounge entry. Additionally, he lacks the option to view his available lounge access balance in a single place

Solution & Pay-off:

With Innoviti ELAN customers can now manage their lounge access without facing the hassle of checking eligibility at the lounge reception, or the embarrassment of turning away, due to no eligibility. They can also track their lounge visit history to recall those special travel moments.
